

SPYRALYX

HARNESSING NATURES ENERGY

What is Spyralyx?

In simple terms, it is any water that has been passed through our Spyralyx device, a device which simulates the natural flow of mountain streams and amplifies its effect.

Photograph of crystal of untreated water molecule

Photograph of crystal of Spyralyx treated water

The Spyralyx device functions utilizing the following ancient principles:

-  Spiraling of water – this is effectively what happens when water flows between and around rocks in the river bed. At home, you experience this naturally as water spiraling out of a bath or sink
-  Exposure to a combination of inorganic and organic materials, as found naturally in the rocks and beds of natural mountain streams
-  Simulation of the magnetic elements as found in natural rocks and beds of mountain streams

How does this device change the water? Some of the more obvious effects are:

Significant softening of water - normally this is achieved using harsh chemical additives which in turn bring their own costs and complications. With Spyralyx this is no longer necessary. What are further benefits of soft water?

- Reduction and reversal of scaling of plumbing pipes, geysers and boilers. Their increased lifespan automatically reduces costs and downtime
- Significant increase in the water's detergent/cleaning effects on all surfaces. This makes cleaning more effective and reduces detergent usage
- The elimination and reversal of porcelain staining in both industrial and home applications

Reduction if not elimination of various contaminants of water

- Chlorine is reduced significantly. This has obvious health benefits, and the list is vast
- Heavy metals are reduced, an obvious health issue
- Disinfects water of pathogens to varying degrees, a bonus in circumstances where the municipal supply is contaminated
- A reduction in the acidity levels of water i.e. raises the pH to varying degrees

Treated water retains heat 10 to 15 % longer

Dramatic improvement in the taste of water

Health benefits

- It has been found that this treated water has anti-inflammatory effects. Quite a claim, but it has been seen to be particularly helpful to people with inflammatory conditions such as arthritis, eczema, psoriasis, burns, skin allergies and asthma
- A marked improvement in stamina and 'energy' levels

Growth effects

The treated water has shown significant improvement in plant growth, and in particular grass where growth stimulation was noted within a matter of days. The potential benefits to the agricultural sector are enormous.